Oceanids Sounding Board—Thursday, March 3rd

Steven D. Hickman, Psy.D, UC San Diego

"The Benefits and Practice of Mindfulness"

Dr. Steven Hickman is a Licensed Clinical Psychologist and has a joint appointment as an Associate Clinical Professor in the UCSD Departments of Psychiatry and Family and Preventive Medicine. Dr. Hickman is the Founder and Director of the UCSD Center for Mindfulness, a program of community building, clinical care, professional training and research. Since founding the Center in 2002, he has taught over 40 Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction (MBSR) courses, as well as adapting the program for nurses, medical students and other professional and clinical populations. Dr. Hickman is also a member of the Executive Committee of the UC San Diego Center for Integrative Medicine. He is married and has three teenage children, affording him ample opportunities to practice what he preaches.

Sounding Board is a series of seven lectures during the academic year, the first Thursday at 12 noon, sponsored by UC San Diego Oceanids and the UC San Diego Faculty Club. Oceanids, faculty and friends meet at the UCSD Faculty Club in a specially designated room to eat lunch and listen to fascinating speakers. Lunch is $14.00 for guests and $10.00 for Faculty Club members (purchase required). Coffee and iced tea are provided in the meeting room. A parking permit can be obtained at the front desk. You can be sure of a lively discussion! You do not need to RSVP. Contact Judy Vacquier, jvacq@sbcglobal.net for more information.

Social Sciences Socially Speaking: Addressing Inequality Wednesday, March 30, 2016

The American dream is about upward mobility. The 2008-09 economic crisis and sluggish recovery put a dent in this dream for millions of Americans. But even before the crisis, incomes had been stagnating. Join us for our spring "Socially Speaking" event, where a panel of faculty experts will discuss the real costs and benefits of the solutions many have offered, and provide insight on which Americans should prioritize as they work to keep the mobility dream alive.

Moderator: Scott Lewis, CEO/Editor in Chief, Voice of San Diego

Panelists

Lane Kenworthy is a Professor of Sociology and Yankelovich Chair in Social Thought; and the Director of the Yankelovich Center. He studies the causes and consequences of living standards, poverty, inequality, mobility, employment, economic growth, social policy, taxes, public opinion, and politics in the United States and other affluent countries.

Thad Kousser is a Professor of Political Science at UC San Diego. He has authored, co-authored, or edited several books and journal articles on American politics and government. He is a recipient of the UCSD Academic Senate's Distinguished Teaching Award and the Faculty Mentor of the Year Award.

Amanda Datnow is Professor of Education Studies and Associate Dean in the Division of Social Sciences at UCSD. She was chair of the Department of Education Studies at UCSD from 2008-2013. Her research focuses on educational reform, particularly with regard to issues of equity. Her goals are to both improve policy and practice in education and advance theory about educational change. Datnow serves on boards of several organizations that relate to her goals of improving equity and opportunity in public education.
