About the Women Wine Makers:

Arrowood- Heidi von der Mehden

Heidi von der Mehden was born in San Francisco, and grew up in Santa Rosa, CA. In 1997, she received a Chemistry degree from Santa Clara University and went on to teach high school Chemistry in Tanzania, East Africa, while serving in the Peace Corps. Upon returning to Sonoma County, she decided to follow her passion and put her chemistry background to work in the wine industry. She joined Arrowood Winery in 2007 as Assistant Winemaker studying under Richard Arrowood until his retirement in 2010.

Cambria -Denise Shurtleff

Denise Shurtleff went to California State Polytechnic University, San Luis Obispo, where she received her Bachelor of Science degree in Dietetics and Food Administration. After college Denise spent 16 years with Corbett Canyon Vineyards where she was Winemaker and Winery Manager. Denise joined Cambria in September 1999 as Assistant Winemaker before becoming head Winemaker in 2003.

La Crema -Elizabeth Grant Douglas

Always fascinated by the unique challenges of making wine from grapes grown in cooler climates, Elizabeth began her career working in several Canadian wineries including Inniskillin, Chateau des Charmes and Thirteenth Street, before heading to Washington and, finally, the Sonoma Coast where she joined La Crema in 2001 as an enologist and worked her way up to Wine Maker in 2010.

Gordon Hanson, Professor of Economics; Pacific Economic Cooperation Chair in International Economic Relations; Director, Center on Emerging and Pacific Economies, UC San Diego

"Globalization and the American Worker"

Professor Hanson specializes in the economics of international trade, international migration, and foreign direct investment. He has published extensively in the top academic journals of the economics discipline, is widely cited for his research by scholars across the social sciences, and is frequently quoted in major media outlets. His current research examines the international migration of skilled labor, border enforcement and illegal immigration, the impact of imports from China on the US labor market, and the determinants of comparative advantage. In past work, he has addressed how immigration and global outsourcing affect the US economy, the economic integration of the US and Mexico, the causes and consequences of global expansion by multinational firms, and the relationship between international trade and the location of economic activity. His most recent book is Regulating Low Skilled Immigration in the United States (American Enterprise Institute, 2010).

Lunch is $13.00 for guests and $9.00 for Faculty Club members (purchase required). Lunch buffet starts at 11:30 am and lecture at 12 noon. Coffee and ice tea are provided in the meeting room. A parking permit can be obtained at the front desk. You can be sure of a lively discussion! You do not need to RSVP. Contact Judy Vacquier, jvacq@sbcglobal.net for more information.

Economics Roundtable Breakfast

Masaaki Shirakawa

former Governor, The Bank of Japan

Thursday, February 27, 2014

7:30 a.m. - 9:00 a.m. (Continental Breakfast)- UC San Diego Faculty Club

Monetary Policy in the Wake of a Global Financial Crisis

Masaaki Shirakawa was the Governor of The Bank of Japan from 2008-2013, and as such shaped the monetary policy of the world's third largest economy during the global financial crisis. From 2011-2013 he was also Director and Vice-Chairman at the Bank of International Settlements. He currently serves as Senior Advisor and member of the Global Advisory Board at Promontory Financial Group. In addition, he is a Special Professor of International Politics, Economics and Communication at Aoyama Gakuin University. Mr. Shirakawa is a member of the "Group of 30", a private nonprofit organization that aims to deepen our understanding of international economic and financial issues.

Mr. Shirakawa graduated from The University of Tokyo with a Bachelor of Arts in economics, and he holds an MA in Economics from the University of Chicago. He joined the Bank of Japan in 1972. At BOJ, he held many key positions, including Executive Director (2002-2006).

The cost to attend the event is $50 per person (includes continental breakfast and parking). A significant discount is available for UC San Diego alumni, faculty, staff and students as well as individuals who purchase tickets for all four events. For additional information, call (858) 534-9710 or email econroundtable@ucsd.edu.

"Leo Szilard: The Man Behind the Bomb"

Wednesday, March 5, 2014 — 11:00 am
Faculty Club Lounge

A talk and book signing by William Lanouette, author of the new edition of Genius in the Shadows: A Biography of Leo Szilard.

Szilard, known as "the father of the atomic bomb," was a key figure in the establishment of the Manhattan Project. He eventually worked to outlaw nuclear weapons. His second career after physics was biology, and he spent his final days as one of the first members of the Salk Institute. The Club's buffet lunch will be available, at the standard price, after the talk.

New Lunch Buffet Prices

In order to maintain the high quality our members have come to both expect and deserve, the Board of Directors has authorized a lunch price increase which will go into effect on:

Monday, March 3, 2014

Members: $10.00

Departments: $13.00

Guests: $14.00

Thank you for your continued support of the Club.
