“Leo Szilard: The Man Behind the Bomb”

Wednesday, March 5, 2014 — 11:00 am
Faculty Club Lounge

A talk and book signing by William Lanouette, author of the new edition of Genius in the Shadows: A Biography of Leo Szilard.

Szilard, known as “the father of the atomic bomb,” was a key figure in the establishment of the Manhattan Project. He eventually worked to outlaw nuclear weapons. His second career after physics was biology, and he spent his final days as one of the first members of the Salk Institute. The Club’s buffet lunch will be available, at the standard price, after the talk.
