Chandos House, London—ACUC Affiliation

Members of the UCSD Faculty club have privileges at two faculty clubs in London with bedroom accommodations, one of which is Chandos House at 2 Queen Anne St. (<http://www.chandoshouse.co.uk/>). Chandos House is a Georgian townhouse, built around 1770, and recently remodeled. It is located on a quiet street in the heart of London's medical quarter, between Portland Place and Oxford Circus. Marylebone Rd., with a number of small restaurants and pubs, is a ten minute walk, and the Oxford Circus tube station is a five minute walk. We recently stayed in a ground floor room at Chandos House and found the furnishings to be in excellent condition. The breakfast facility (photo attached) is very English, with individual academics spaced around a single large table, reading their papers, and conversing in hushed tones. Our cost for two persons with breakfast was £ 150.00/night. I would gladly stay there again.

Special thanks to member Roger Spragg former Board Member and House Committee Chair for giving us a special peek at the Chandos House in London.
