Bloomsday Celebration Luncheon

Thursday, June 16, 2016

11:45 am - 2:00 pm

As the academic year winds down, not every mind turns to vacation. Some minds turn to James Joyce's Ulysses, to Molly and Leopold Bloom; to Dublin; to Buck Mulligan, Stephen Dedalus, Paddy Dignam (may he rest in peace), and Nosey Flynn; to Davy Byrne's pub, burgundy, and Gorgonzola; to Molly's soliloquy; to words and phrases humorous and inscrutable; and to "Love's Old Sweet a Song".

We will gather to honor this great book and the memory of Pat Ledden on Bloomsday, June 16th, the day in 1904 when all of the action in Ulysses occurs.

The Ledden Luncheon Committee invites interested staff, faculty, spouses, and friends from the community to join in this celebration. Lunch is free. Just come with an open mind and a copy of the book (or with a friend who has a copy); no expertise required; you need not have read the book; you need only to be willing to scan a chapter or two with friends at lunch.

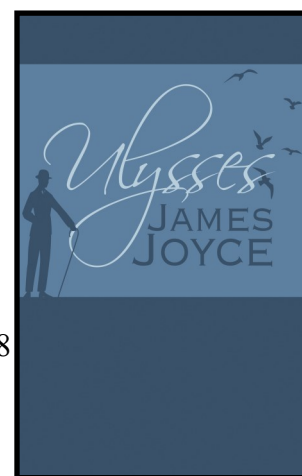

Here are the particulars:

What: a free lunch, provided you participate as noted below

Where: Faculty Club Lounge

Format: There may be a surprise guest, and a live report from Dublin. Rather than have a featured speaker or an all-day reading, we ask each attendee to bring a copy of Ulysses, the Gabler Edition, if possible. Each table will be assigned a chapter or two to scan during lunch, and will be asked to give a 2-minute summary of the action of those chapters, and to present a word, a phrase, or an interesting paragraph from the chapter for the groups' enjoyment. We'll try to get through all 18 sections in 90 minutes; if we fail, the diehards can stay later as we push through Molly's soliloquy over burgundy or Guinness. We'll have a few experts to keep things moving along. As usual, we'll close by singing "Love's Old Sweet Song".

Space is limited to about 80 persons, so RSVP early.

RSVP by 4pm on June 13 to Lilia Huato, luato@ucsd.edu or call 858-534-0876.
